

Dennis Watson

Spring City Council hopeful

SPRING CITY — Richard Dennis Watson, incumbent councilman is seeking re-election to the Spring City Council.

He has lived in Spring City most of his life and returned in 1980 with his wife, Kaye, and son, and has been involved with agricultural pursuits. He worked with the Air National Guard for 12 years and was recently promoted to major.

In his four years on the council, Watson has been involved with four different mayors and three groups of councilmen. He said the continuity he would bring to the council is valuable to new council members. He has worked on the city cemetery, parks, and water. He has represented the city on mayor and commissioner meetings which enabled him to become acquainted with various county leaders. He is also a member of Sen. Orrin Hatch's Utah Task Force.

He said as a councilman he has tried to look out for the interests and pocketbooks of senior citizens as well as represent the families involved in agriculture.

He said great challenges will come as many long-range decisions are made. "I have the experience, background, expertise and knowledge to make a valuable contribution to the city where I grew up and now choose to live."
